Jury Probes No-Shows

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Franklin County grand jury will be asked today to consider charges that Democratic campaign workers got no-show jobs with the state during the waning days of the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

"I plan to go before the regular Franklin County grand jury Tuesday to explain the case and ask their cooperation in subpoenaing records and witnesses," Franklin County Prosecutor George C. Smith said Monday.

Smith, a Republican, included among those he planned to question Lt. Gov. Richard Celeste, Joseph Sommer, director of Administrative Services under Gilligan, and John E. Hansan, Gilligan's chief of staff. Smith said he did not "at this time" intend to call Gilligan.

Smith's announcement marked continued momentum for an investigation which has expanded to include six state departments since Celeste disclosed early last week that he had placed five campaign aides in state jobs after the Nov. 7 election.

Celeste said he arranged for the jobs with Sommer so that he could have a transitional staff between his election as lieutenant governor and swearing in Jan. 12. He contended his action was "common practice" and that the five employees all had been engaged in legitimate state business.

However, within hours after Celeste's announcement, the Department of Industrial Relations said it was investigating the work records of one of Celeste's people and 19 other employees. Deputy Director Sam McAdow said the department suspected fraud.

Two days later, the Department of Taxation identified nine employees who director Gerald Collins said had not been seen at the agency since their hiring on Nov. 25.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' chief of staff, John H. McElroy, asked the Ohio Highway Patrol to launch investigations in the two departments and also follow leads provided by Celeste.

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said his examiners were checking payroll records in industrial relations, administrative services, motor vehicles and liquor control.

Celeste also placed staffers in administrative services, agriculture, motor vehicles and workmen's compensation.

Smith said his investigation would be conducted by a specially-created task force and would "look into every aspect which related to activity here in Franklin County."

"Any information which would relate to another county, I plan to ship that information either to the attorney general or to the appropriate county prosecutor," he said.

McElroy, who has said the "irregularities" go beyond department staffs in Columbus, said he did not confer with Smith on the grand jury action.

The prosecutor said his investigation already has begun in the industrial relations department but added: "We're not going to be limited to any particular departments."

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown has not entered the investigation. Smith, Brown's November opponent, said he would apprise the attorney general today of his probe.

Robert Brehmer Sr. Dies At Age 91

Mr. Robert L. Brehmer Sr., 581 N. Court St., prominent in Circleville business and civic affairs for many years, died 4:30 p.m. Monday at Pickaway Manor. He was 91-years old.

Born Feb. 16, 1884, in Salt Creek Twp. near Adelphi, he was the son of John J. and Katie Landsorfer Brehmer.

The family moved to Circleville in 1887. In 1902 he graduated from Evarts High School and shortly after became a lineman for the Central Union Telephone Co. He later became manager of the company.

old Circleville Athletic Club. He was a motorcycle buff when he was in his early 20s and all his life enjoyed bicycling.

Mr. Brehmer was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and served as a trustee of the church. In 1965 he was named an outstanding senior citizen of the community by the Jaycees.

Mr. Brehmer was preceded in death by his wife, Nettie Herrmann Brehmer, and one daughter, Mrs. Joseph F. Bell.

He is survived by one son, Robert L. Brehmer Jr., 895 Atwater Ave.; one sister, Mrs. Oliver B. Fellows, Columbus; seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Trinity Lutheran Church with Pastor Carl Zehner officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at Mader Funeral Home beginning 3 p.m. Wednesday until noon Thursday. The casket will remain closed in the church.

Members of the Rotary Club will call as a group 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The BPO Elks lodge will hold memorial services 8 p.m. Wednesday.

ROBERT BREHMER SR.

In 1913 he became a partner in the Noecker and Brehmer Ford dealership and in 1915 established his own Ford dealership at the present site of The Herald.

Mr. Brehmer became owner of Brehmer's Greenhouse about 1932 and was active in the business until his health began failing recently.

Always a steadfast supporter of all programs designed for the betterment of the city, he was a past president and member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. He was one of the original members of the Board of Governors of Berger Hospital, serving from 1930 until 1962. He was a member of the commission that directed construction of the hospital.

He was a charter member of the Circleville Rotary Club and achieved a 50-year perfect attendance record with that organization. He served as president in 1924 and was for many years editor of the Rotary bulletin. He was a member of the Pumpkin Show board of directors. Mr. Brehmer was an organizer and charter member of the Pickaway Country Club and was voted a life membership in 1964. He was a past president of the board of trustees.

He was a member of the Circleville BPO Elks Club.

He was a member of the Allied Florists Assn., and a member and past president of the Ohio Florists Assn. and also the Ohio Flower Growers and Retailers Assn.

Mr. Brehmer was a member of the board of directors of Circleville Oil Co. and a past president of the company. He was a member of the board of directors and past president of the Forest Cemetery Assn.

Active in scouting, he received the Silver Beaver Award, the highest honor in scouting.

Mr. Brehmer was a sports enthusiast throughout his life and played professional football four years with a Columbus team and was active in the PICKAWAY County Commissioners L. Robert Liston, Dick T. Tootle and Donald Strous today congratulated the Circleville High School basketball team on achieving its number one ranking in the final Associated Press high school basketball poll and on its 18-0 record. . . . Liston, the lone graduate of CHS serving on the three man board, served as spokesman in issuing the congratulations.

ROUNDTOWN

Plane Search Unsuccessful

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Searchers were unsuccessful Monday in an attempt to locate a small plane missing since last Thursday with three Ohio men aboard.

The plane vanished in bad weather on a flight from the southern coastal town of North Bend to Eugene, about 75 miles in distance, said Ralph McGinnis, head of the State Aeronautics Board.

McGinnis said searchers were uncertain whether the plane flew up the coast or took an inland route. No flight plan was filed.

National Guard and Coast Guard helicopters covered both routes Monday but found no sign of a downed aircraft.

Aboard the craft were David Lamb of Bellvue; David Stadley, 44, and his brother, John, 40, both of Castalia.

Weather

Cloudy and cooler today, high near 50. Cloudy with occasional light rain tonight and Wednesday, low tonight, mid 30s. High Wednesday, low 40s. Probability of precipitation, 20 per cent today, 50 per cent tonight and 40 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Monday were: high, 65; low, 38.

EASTER SEAL CHILD—Richard Plum, Easter Seal campaign chairman, announces the selection of Shane Curtis as Pickaway County Easter Seal Child for 1975. Shane is the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Curtis Sr., Swackhammer Road, and is a victim of cerebral palsy. After several operations, leg braces, therapy and with his parents' continued encouragement and his own determination, Shane has progressed to the extent that he is now able to walk with only the aid of forearm crutches. He attended Franklin County Easter Seal Center for pre-school handicapped children for a year and is now a student at Neil Avenue School for Crippled Children in Columbus. "Shane's main goal is to be able to discard his crutches and your contribution to Easter Seals can help him," Plum says.

Campaign Finance Measure Stalled On Several Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate-spawned law to prevent future campaign finance scandals is being stalled by the inaction of President Ford and Congress.

Nearly four months have passed since the law was signed Oct. 15. Yet there is no commission to enforce it, no staff has been hired and no regulations have been written.

Congress has not yet appropriated so much as a dime to pay for enforcement, and Ford is seeking a fraction of the amount Congress originally envisioned.

No date has been set for Senate or House hearings on the qualifications of the persons nominated as election commissioner. Congress finished selecting its four nominees late last month but Ford still has not picked his two nominees.

Technically, the new law took effect New Year's Day.

Meanwhile, presidential and congressional candidates are operating in a partial vacuum, forced to make their own interpretations of the new law's provisions, some of which are complicated and vague.

Several candidates and potential candidates already are raising money for the 1976 presidential election. A special congressional election was held last month in Louisiana, and a special congressional primary is set for April 5 in Chicago.

Many past candidates have debts from last year's congressional races and even the 1972 presidential campaigns.

In the eyes of some proponents of the bill, the situation is becoming dangerous.

"Unless this turns around, we're on our way to one hell of a mess, and a hell of a scandal before we even get started," said Fred Wertheimer, vice president of Common Cause, the lobbying group that pushed to get the new law enacted.

"If people don't feel the law is going to be enforced, they're going to go back to the old ways. The danger signs are all over the place," he said.

Former Rep. Robert O. Tiernan, D-R.I., who has been nominated by the House to serve on the election commission, said in a telephone interview that he doesn't like the delays either.

"The law went into effect in January, and we're going to have an awful time getting rules and regulations promulgated," he said. "... I think we should be moving very fast, but you know it's up to the President to send up the nominees, and the House is going to have to move" on financing bills and confirmation of its commission nominees.

When the new commission gets started it may face a severe budget problem. Congress initially authorized up to $5 million for the commission's first fiscal year, which ends June 30. President Ford's budget seeks $500,000 for that period, and $2 million for 1976, when the presidential campaign will be in full swing. The actual money available to the commission will depend on how much Congress eventually appropriates.

for more than $4.1 billion — by March 5 for the package to qualify for the June 3 primary election ballot.

McElroy said the resolutions were drafted during a six hour meeting Saturday between the governor's aides and bond counsel and will be introduced in the General Assembly today.

If the Democrats give Rhodes the three-fifths majority he needs, voters would then decide whether to fund the wide-ranging "depression proof" package by approving increases in the state sales and gasoline taxes.

Tiger Day Proclaimed By Mayor

Mayor Frank Barnhill today proclaimed Wednesday as "Tiger Day" in Circleville, honoring the high school basketball team, voted number one in the state by Associated Press sports writers and sportscasters.

Barnhill issued the proclamation during the noon meeting of Circleville Sertoma Club. The club, city and high school officials have jointly scheduled a public appreciation rally 5:15 p.m. Wednesday on the steps of the Pickaway County Court House.

Circleville merchants are urged to fly their CHS flags and all Tiger fans, both old and new, are encouraged to wear red and black in honor of the team tomorrow.

Coached by John Lawhorn, the team is the first Circleville basketball team ever to have an undefeated season and the first to achieve the recognition as the best team in the state.

Members of the high school basketball team are:

Perry Hoskins, Harold Reed, Brad Spangler, Bill Massie, Phil Roll, Dan Marshall, George Moore, Biff Bumgarner, Mike McCoy, Brent Mancini, Warren Yamarick, Jeff Williams, and Frank Merrill.

Dave Sealock is coordinating the Tiger recognition day for the Circleville Sertoma Club.

Home Gardeners Ordering Record Amount Of Seeds

By WILLIAM C. WERTZ
Associated Press Writer

With food prices still booming, home gardeners are ordering seeds for spring planting in record amounts while the icy grip of winter is still on much of the land.

Officials of the nation's largest seed and nursery companies say last year's boom in home gardening is bigger than ever in 1975 and that they can hardly keep up with the demand.

"If you can eat it, you don't have enough of it. That's the new general rule in this industry," said Keith Price, marketing manager for the Gurney Seed and Nursery Co. of Yankton, S.D.

"We're getting earlier orders and larger orders than ever before," said Alice Gillette of the R.H. Shumway Co. of Rockford, Ill. "Normally, our busy season is just starting."

"We're facing an intense demand in our vegetable lines," said Jerry Kantor, assistant to the president of the Burpee Seed Co. of Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, Rhodes is facing a Wednesday deadline on the controversial $91.3 million school appropriation bill, which he can sign, veto or allow to become law without his signature.

The Democratic-sponsored measure would allocate surplus funds to local districts on the basis of $40 per pupil. Rhodes, who wanted the money to be earmarked for teachers, has been urged by minority Republicans to veto the bill.

Democratic response to the governor's proposals has been non-

"We're running 20 per cent or more ahead of last year, which was a record year, and we don't expect to hit our peak until late February or March."

All three attributed their record sales in 1974 to soaring supermarket food prices. Sales of flower seeds have remained relatively stable, they said.

"We're just seeing this year an intensification of what started to happen last year," said Kantor. "Despite the talk of a recession there's no doubt that inflationary pressures still exist, and food costs are going up and up."

The three firms mail out millions of seed and nursery catalogs each year.

Price said Gurney expects to ship more than a million pounds of seeds to gardeners throughout the nation in 1975, a quantity which would fill more than two dozen semi-trailer trucks.

"Mostly we're selling tomatoes, corn, beans, carrots and peas, the stuff a beginning gardener is likely to grow. We're seeing a tremendous increase in new gardens, as well as larger orders from old customers," Price said.

committal thus far, although no one is quarreling the principle of creating more jobs as a hedge against recession.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, has questioned the "buy now pay later concept" but has withheld judgment pending a fuller detailing of the proposals.

Riffe and Senate President Pro Tem Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, plan to have two of the proposals introduced in each chamber, possibly followed by joint committee hearings. Riffe has predicted the measures could reach a floor vote within 10 days.

Rhodes Measures Tackled By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats, who won legislative approval for six of their own bills in less than a week last month, today will tackle Gov. James A. Rhodes' jobs and building proposals in the face of an early March deadline.

Rhodes' chief of staff John M. McElroy was at his desk during the Monday holiday refining the constitutional language of four resolutions that detail programs for cities, transportation, housing and industry.

The Democratic-controlled legislature would have to approve the proposals — including two bond issues

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed higher today in active trading after bad news about some blue chips sent the market into an early slump.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down about 6 points in the first hour, turned and rose .62 to 734.82 at noon.

Advances and declines ran about even and sales were active but fell short of their recent record-breaking pace.

The broad-based NYSE composite index was up .01 at 43.22 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .05 at 76.74 at noon.

Brokers said declining interest rates continued to give investors a reason for putting money into stocks rather than alternative interest-bearing investments.

Chemical Bank of New York reduced its prime lending rate for corporations to an industry low 8.5 per cent, while many other bank prime rates fell to 8.75 per cent.

Nineteen-year-old Kathleen Ann Uland is a 1974 graduate of Circleville High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Uland, 592

Men Appear On Reynolds Break-In

Two men accused of companion crimes appeared before Judge William Ammer this morning in common pleas court. Alan Roger Hatcher, Waverly, and James Smith both appeared in court and changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty on charges of breaking and entering and grand theft.

The two men were indicted on secret bills by the second session of the September Grand Jury today, they admitted the break-in at the Reynolds Metals Plant in Ashville. The court ordered the Adult Parole Authority to prepare pre-sentence reports on each of them.

Danny Sprouse appeared before the court on Friday afternoon. Sprouse was originally charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny and was placed on probation for the two offenses. He was later charged with receiving stolen property and entered a negotiated plea of guilty. The value of the items stolen was then set at less than $150.

By pleading guilty to receiving stolen property, Sprouse was then in violation of his probation on the first two offenses.

The court sentenced him to six months in the county jail on the last charge and then suspended the sentence.

Sprouse was then sentenced to two terms of 1-5 years each at the Ohio State Reformatory for his original charges. The court ordered the two sentences to run concurrently and granted Sprouse credit for time he has already spent in the Pickaway County Jail.

Glass Process Reported By PPG

PITTSBURGH (AP)—PPG Industries says it has developed a new way of making flat glass which may stem the flow of royalty payments to Britain where the last breakthrough in glass technology was made.

The firm announced Monday it had begun commercial production at its Wichita Falls, Tex., plant of a "unique new method of manufacturing flat glass."

Such glass is used widely in the automobile and home building industries and is presently made by the float process, which was developed in Britain and generates a multi-million dollar stream of license fees from all major glassmakers to British investors.

Oakland Terrace.

Presently attending Ohio State University, Miss Uland is working for a degree in pharmacy.

Barbara Souders, 20, 360 Brown St., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe F. Souders.

A 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, she plans to be a teacher for deaf-mutes.

Logan Elm High School senior Gayle Morgan, 17, is the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Morgan, 1930 Arapaho Dr.

Her future plans are to major in elementary education.

Eighteen-year-old Sheri Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Smith, 16 Morris Court.

A senior at Circleville High School, Miss Smith plans to attend Columbus Technical Institute to qualify her as a dental technician.

The five local beauties will compete against 11 other girls from the South Central Ohio district.

Dan Prickett, producer and director of the pageant, said that production rehearsals are well under way for the major musical production that will be presented during the pageant along with the contestant phases of competition. There is approximately a one hundred member cast that will be performing in the pageant. Several members of the state and Miss America pageant staff will be in attendance for the pageant.

ART SHOW COMMITTEE—Committee for the annual Westfall Art Show, from the left, are Suzanne Monett, programs; Theresa Conley, general chairman; Valerie Corbin, publicity; Debbie Green, preparation for display; and Maria Thomas, refreshments. Theme of the Thursday show is "Art Is What You Make It." Judging will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday by judges Ms. Evelyn Bastian and Ms. Lisa Yaple. Deputy Fite Cites Drivers In Accidents Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Fite cited Earl T. Gulick, 36, Route 4, for reckless operation when he was involved in a single-car accident, 8:40 p.m. Monday.

Gulick, apparently traveling south at a high rate of speed on the Circleville-Kingston Road, lost control of his auto and went off the right side of the road.

The vehicle struck a utility pole and fence before rolling over.

Gulick was taken to Berger Hospital for a broken nose and lacerations to the arms.

Twenty-six-year-old Jerry C. Shirley, Route 5, was cited by Deputy James Fite, for driving while intoxicated, when he was involved in a single-car accident, 10:50 p.m. Monday.

Northbound on the Circleville-Groveport Road, Shirley made a right turn onto Swackhammer Road when he traveled off the left berm striking a mailbox.

The auto traveled back across the road and struck a boat and trailer owned by Robert E. Coleman, Route 5. No injuries were reported.

Man Faces 5th Charge Of Murder

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police say Eugene "Gino" Spruill has been charged with another murder, bringing to five the total slayings he allegedly committed while an escapee from prison in 1972-73.

The latest charge was filed Monday in the June 18, 1973, killing of Ronald "Cash" Brown of Pittsburgh.

Brown was found dead of a shotgun wound of the chest in Pittsburgh's St. Clair Village section, and police said the killing may have occurred during a narcotics deal.

Spruill, 30, has been held at the state penitentiary at Graterford near Philadelphia since he was recaptured and convicted of murder in the Nov. 21, 1972 stabbing death of John Beck of suburban Natrona Heights.

In the past week, Spruill has also been charged with killing:

—Charles Harber, 18, and his sister, Betty Jo, 10, victims of a firebombing at their St. Clair Village home.

—Alvin Snipe, 19, whose decapitated, decomposed remains were found Friday in a shallow grave near St. Clair Village.

Annual YMCA Meeting Scheduled Wednesday

Annual meeting for the Pickaway County Family YMCA is scheduled 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Philips Episcopal Parish House.

It will include election of officers and Y board members and better acquaint members with the Y and its aims and programs. All members of the Y are invited to attend. A candlelight dessert smorgasbord and social hour will follow the business meeting.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Lawrence Stonerock in 1966, and one daughter, Gertrude.

She was a member of First Church of Christ in Christian Union.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Helen Frazier, 617 Renick Ave.; Mrs. Willard (Ethel) Gaines, 717 E. Mound St.; six grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at Wellman Funeral Home with the Rev. Lyle Bainter officiating. Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Seniors To Present 'Tune In On Terror'

By JACKIE COLLINS and JEFF RITCHIE

The LE senior class will present their annual production, "Tune In On Terror" March 7 and 8.

The plot centers around lovely Jikki Jerrold, portrayed by Laurie May and her attempts to marry her true love, Bart Burdette, played by Brian Barr.

After running off to an abandoned house for the ceremony, Bart and Jikki meet the Arkwright twins, sorority sisters, who as an initiation, must spend the night in the supposedly haunted house.

Their efforts are thwarted, however, by assorted spooks and spectres and especially by Klaus Von Schlasher, an insane brain surgeon, who is determined to have the couple's brains for his experiments.

Bart and friends come to the rescue and in the offing uncover a bank robbery and capture the gang of thieves.

The play is interspersed with happy reunions, tearful lovers and a lot of frightening effects.

Everything works out for the best and as always, everyone lives happily ever after, Scary, Romantic and most of all hilarious.

LE Attempts To Find Super Brave, Squaw

By KATHY VALENTINE

A new kind of happening at Logan Elm began Jan. 27. It is to find out who will become Super Brave and Squaw. Under the supervision of physical education teacher Stan Wilamowski, the contest is underway.

Any student at Logan Elm is welcome to be in the contest, if he or she is not failing in any subject.

The areas of competition are sit-ups for two minutes; basketball shooting, 15-feet for girls and 20-feet for boys; weight lifting-bench press; game of handball, girls can substitute push-ups; game of badminton; one yard dash; baseball hitting; basketball throw; long jump; an obstacle course and archery.

All contestants have eight days in which to do their event doing one event at a time. The week of March 10 will be when the 20 semi-finalists-10 girls and 10 boys are named.

Finalists are chosen by the number of points they have. Points are given by placing first place, 10 points; second, seven points; third, four points; fourth, two points and fifth, one point.

Through this contest Wilamowski hopes to get the students interested in the competition and interested to know who is the overall, whole athlete at Logan Elm.

FAA Competes In Speaking Contest

By TONY CARROLL

The Logan Elm FFA entered three members in the District 10 Public Speaking Contest. They were, Tracy Strous for the creed, Bill Leist for the prepared, and Don Minor for the extemporaneous.

Tracy Strous placed third in the District out of 33 other teams; Don Minor placed fourth; and Bill Leist placed seventh.

The contest was held at the new Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School.

Urge National Waterway System

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Rep. John Myers, R-Ind., says the government should continue development of a national waterway system.

Myers, ranking member of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works, addressed the annual meeting of the Water Resources Congress over the weekend at St. Louis.

He said "development of our inland waterways played a major role in the growth of this great nation more than 100 years ago. History will repeat itself if we can rally public support for the expansion of our waterways."

The Earth's total surface area is about 197.2 million square miles, of which the land makes up only 57.2 million square miles.

Otterbein Grad Is LE Teacher

By ROSEANN TERRY

Miss Debroah Miller is a teacher at Logan Elm High School. She graduated from Otterbein College and has a BA Degree in French.

Among her hobbies are traveling, swimming, reading and just about any outdoors activity.

She says that she really enjoys teaching at Logan Elm.

The students at Logan Elm are a lot nicer than some of the students observed in some city schools," adds Miss Miller.

Another reason for her liking Logan Elm is because it is somewhat out in the country. Since she was raised on a farm, we can understand her liking it.

Miss Miller is five feet five inches tall, has brown hair, and lives in Columbus.

We are all pleased to have Miss Miller at Logan Elm.

Lynchburg Pilot Killed

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The wreckage of a single-engine plane and its dead pilot was found Monday in a wooded area north of here, the Civil Air Patrol reported.

The pilot was identified by the Clinton County coroner as James W. Branham, 41, of Lynchburg.

Branham was alone in the plane, the CAP in Columbus said.

The search for the plane, which began Sunday, was hampered by bad weather. Ground parties found the wreckage.

A CAP spokesman said the plane disappeared on a short flight from the Clinton County airport to Bainbridge. He said the craft went down about four miles southwest of the airport.

Ford Son Pushed For Amnesty

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Jack Ford, son of President Ford, says he gave his father a lot of help in the President's decision to grant amnesty to Vietnam war protesters and draft evaders.

"I pushed very, very hard for it. I thought it would be a good thing to start out with," Ford said. "He's not an impulsive person. He thinks things through very carefully before he makes a decision and maybe a lot of the credit given to me on the amnesty thing, I'm not sure I deserve."

Ford, 22, visited the Idaho Legislature on Monday and was introduced in both chambers although he didn't speak. He is a student at Utah State University.

Shock Parole Guidelines Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Inmates convicted of any first degree felony would be excluded from eligibility for shock parole under new guidelines being considered for the controversial early release program.

The present shock parole law permits inmates to be released after six months imprisonment unless they have been convicted of murder or aggravated murder, or have been previously jailed for more than 30 days.

Conceding that the program has not received favorable public acceptance, Director of Rehabilitation and Correction George F. Denton is studying further restrictions offered by the Adult Parole Authority.

"Under our new rules," Denton said, "I will be willing to exclude first degree felons" from eligibility for shock parole.

Denton estimated that this exclusion would cut back the number of inmates released by about 25 per cent.

Cab Rider Hit, Killed

HOUSTON (AP) — A taxicab passenger was killed Monday night when he allegedly jumped out of a cab in which he was riding, tried to run across a highway and was struck by a second cab, state police said.

Officers said papers on the body tentatively identified him as Dr. Charles T. Disney, 50, of Uniontown, Ohio.

Both cabs were operated by women drivers, investigators said, and both were employed by the same cab company.

Police quoted Curleen Grigsby Basile as saying she picked up a passenger at Houston Intercontinental Airport and was instructed to take him to a Houston hotel.

Along the way, she told police, the man tried to attack her and when she stopped the cab and got out and ran across U.S. 59, the man chased her. She said he ripped out the cab's microphone when she tried to summon help.

Police said the man was struck by a cab driven by Florence Miller, 46.

2 Persons Die

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Two separate fires on Muncie's west side caused the deaths of a Ball State University graduate student and an elderly woman over the weekend.

Police identified the victims as William Randle, 28, of Marion, and Kathryn Whitlow, 70, of Muncie.

Investigators said Randle was killed Saturday morning when he jumped from a second-floor window to escape flames in the bedroom of his apartment.

Several hours later, Mrs. Whitlow when fire gutted her home.

Energy Saving

Can the United States significantly reduce the growth rate of energy consumption without damaging the expansion of its economy? Certainly can, according to one study by a business research organization.

The Conference Board study found the growth in energy consumption was on the decline even before the availability of energy became a major concern. Largely due to the introduction of new plant and machinery, utilizing the latest technology, energy use in manufacturing grew by 2.7 per cent annually between 1947 and 1971, while manufacturing output was rising by 4.3 per cent annually.

Looking to the next decade the study concludes: "A substantial degree of energy conservation is an attainable goal for the nation. The forces of technological change and response to higher prices are quite likely to produce a much lower rate of growth of energy use in the next 10 years than has prevailed in the preceding two decades.

"Energy use and economic growth are certainly not independent of one another, but the link between them is more elastic than is commonly assumed, provided time is allowed for the necessary adjustments in production and consumption that will permit less energy to be consumed per unit of product."

Energy conservation is not the problem. Time to bring conservation to its ultimate potential is.

"What's all this about my account being overdrawn? I didn't make such a fuss when your toaster had a short, did I?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have had a sharp pain in my chest for six weeks. I just found out that I have pleurisy. I always thought that pleurisy was the same as pneumonia. Is there a difference?

Mrs. V. M., Ohio

Dear Mrs. M.:

Pleurisy is an infection or inflammation of the "pleura," a fine membrane that covers the outside of the lungs.

Another similar pleural membrane completely lines the inside of the entire chest cavity. In good health, when the lungs expand, these two layers glide smoothly over each other. When there is infection or inflammation of the pleural linings, they rub against each other. This is responsible for difficulty in breathing, and the severe stabbing, shooting pain of pleurisy.

Pleurisy is, in itself, not pneumonia. It may be a complication of pneumonia, or may exist without it.

Before the era of the antibiotics, fluid and pus would accumulate between the two layers of the pleura, and complicate pleurisy. Today, almost miraculously, with the antibiotics these complications of pleurisy are rare.

An injury of the chest wall, which may have gone unnoticed, sometimes may cause pleurisy, even in the absence of any infection.

Had you brought your pain to the attention of your doctor earlier, treatment might have been started more quickly and you might have been spared this long period of discomfort.

Is it unusual to have arthritis of the neck at the age of 50? I have no arthritis anywhere else in the body.

Mr. J. H., N.J.

Dear Mr. H.:

Many people younger than 50 have osteoarthritis of the cervical spine of the neck.

Sometimes, evidence of this is found during a routine X-ray examination among people who have never had any symptoms related to it.

It is believed that when man graduated from his four-legged position these changes became more pronounced.

Constant movement of the neck may be responsible for deposits of calcium that show up on an X-ray.

This type of localized arthritis in the neck can occur without any signs of arthritis anywhere else in the body.

Abortion Conviction Raises Fears Among Physicians

BOSTON (AP) — The manslaughter conviction of Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin for the death of an aborted fetus has raised fears among some physicians of new restrictions on abortions.

"The verdict will send shock waves into the medical community," said William J. Curran, professor of legal medicine at Harvard.

"Within the next week it's just going to have shocking impact on physicians and others that are doing any procedures of this kind. It will have an effect all over the country," Curran said.

Edelin, 36, was convicted over the weekend for the death of a fetus during a legal abortion performed in October 1973 at Boston City Hospital.

In Boston, Edelin's conviction clears the way for prosecution of four physicians under an 1814 grave-robbing statute for experiments on aborted fetuses. Asst. Dist. Atty. Newman A. Flanagan said after the verdict that he would turn to the fetal experimentation case, in which indictments were returned last April.

Some doctors fear this case could interfere with research in fetal development and birth defects.

Edelin's trial, which involved complicated medical testimony about when life actually begins, aroused interest because of its implications in the battle over legalization of abortion.

On Sunday, a conference of conservatives in Washington passed a resolution urging a constitutional amendment to protect the life of unborn children from the moment of conception. And John Cardinal Krol, Roman Catholic archbishop of Philadelphia, said of the case:

"Some have expressed concern that the decision may inhibit abortion. We pray to God that it will."

Edelin's attorney has said the case will be appealed, to the Supreme Court if necessary. Edelin appeared on the Black News television program in Boston and said the fact that he is black was a factor in the trial.

He noted one alternate juror had been quoted as saying the jurors made racial slurs in the jury room.

In a separate interview in the Boston Globe, Edelin called the trial "a witch hunt."

"A lot came together for them in my case. They got a black physician, they got a woman more than 20 weeks pregnant, and they got a fetus in a mortuary."

Plane Sought In Oregon Area

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — A ground and air search Sunday turned up no sign of a small plane missing in southwestern Oregon since Thursday with three men aboard.

Authorities said the plane vanished on a flight from North Bend to Eugene.

Two of the occupants were identified as David Stadler, 44, and his brother, John 40, of Castalia, Ohio. The third man's identity was uncertain.

The search was to resume today.

Fisher Body Sets More Layoffs

MARION, Ind. (AP) — The Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corp. announced it is laying off 230 workers today, bringing to 1,500 the number idled at the plant since December.

The latest layoffs, affecting tool and production workers, will leave 1,500 on the job here.

Courage Of Convictions

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The Washington Post's Potomac magazine indicates that morbid events in the nation's capital have not hurt business in the town's upper-crustier restaurants:

"When Bobby Baker was released on parole he headed right over to Duke Zeibert's for a toast, and the L Street restaurant is still hosting the convicted high and mighty. In for lunch recently, after weeks of prison fare, was Herbert Kalmbach, accompanied by his lawyer; they were followed by John Mitchell and his lawyer. 'What's this, a halfway house?' groused a regular customer. (Probably Moe Siegel of the Washington Star-News.)

"Jeb Stuart Magruder, meanwhile, was up the street, shaking hands and lunching at the Sans Souci..."

A former Nixon Administration Cabinet officer whose friendship with the former President is still strong privately grumbles:

"For the life of me, I can't understand Barry Goldwater any more. He goes to see Nixon for a short time and comes away saying that Dick might have a future in the Republican Party. Barry knows our friend is gone forever from power in the party. He's finished, kaput, and nobody knows it better than Dick. He knows he'd hurt us tremendously if he tried any kind of comeback. God knows we're hurting enough."

Walter Winchell's rat-a-tat radio show on Sunday, Dec. 15, 1946 was not confined to the customary tornado of such momentous items of those times as "Suzie DeFlue, ex-Follies eye-bugger, has been grandmothered."

Midstream in the broadcast Walter took a breath, which was unusual in itself, and spoke sadly of the death a few days before of his friend Damon Runyon. He proposed a research found to look into the scourge that did Runyon in—cancer.

"If you enjoyed Damon's genius in the papers, magazines, books and on the screen... contribute a little or a lot... a dime or a dollar... to get the Damon Runyon memorial started," Winchell said. "I already have a check for $5,000. (It was his own.) Send your donation to me, please, or your favorite columnist. It doesn't matter... in any city... on any paper... or (to) your favorite sports writer... and they will send it along for the Runyon memorial fund."

At hand is the 1974 annual report of what is now the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Cancer Fund. (Winchell also died from cancer.) It confirms an old adage that, properly nourished over the years, an acorn makes a fine oak.

Over the years it has collected (with no deductions for administrative costs) $42,000,000 from contributions, theater ticket sales, trusts, wills, sports events, art sales and exhibits, etc. It has disbursed in grants, with the help of the best cancer research advice, some $38,000,000. It hasn't found a "cure" for cancer through pure research. So far there isn't one. But the two fabled Broadway characters are still in there "punchin'," as they'd say.

Nobody could have dreamed that the soft-spoken creator of "Guys and Dolls" and the former hooper who stopped the nation in its tracks every Sunday night at nine with "Good evening Mr. and Mrs. North and South America and all the ships at sea—let's go to press!" would one day be the instruments of research that would have utterly flabbergasted both. 'Pill' Boosts Dangers Of Stroke

CHICAGO (AP) — The use of birth control pills significantly increases the risk of a stroke in women, according to a followup study of women stroke victims.

The study, by the Collaborative Group for the Study of Strokes in Young Women, is reported in today's edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The study involved a statistical group of 598 non-pregnant stroke victims from 15 to 44 years old and two control groups matched for age and race. The women were interviewed about contraceptive practices, smoking habits, symptoms of headache and general medical history.

This information was used to determine the risk of a stroke in women of various ages and backgrounds, taking into account such other factors as high blood pressure, smoking and migraine headache.

In all categories, the relative risk of the less severe thrombotic, or blood-clotting, stroke and the more severe hemorrhagic stroke were found to be significantly higher for oral contraceptive users than for non-users.

In discussing the use of the contraceptives combined with hypertension, the report pointed out that both factors tend to dispose a woman toward possible stroke. The study added, however, that risk of thrombotic stroke for pill users with severe high blood pressure is twice that of non-users with the same degree of hypertension. Among women with normal blood pressure, the stroke risk is three times higher among pill users.

Snowmobiling Gaining Popularity As Outdoor Winter Recreation

Snowmobiling, a relatively new winter sport, is fast gaining popularity in Ohio as an outdoor activity during the cold-weather months.

Although most enthusiasts like snowmobiling for itself, the sport naturally complements several other winter activities, particularly in northern Ohio's "snow belt" region.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (DNR) provides designated areas for snowmobiling within eight state parks and a state forest.

Snowmobilers may use the frozen lake surfaces at Grand Lake-St. Marys State Park in Mercer County, Indian Lake State Park in Logan County, Lake Lorain State Park in Shelby County, Buckeye Lake State Park in Fairfield County and Portage Lakes State Park in Summit County.

DNR recommends a minimum ice thickness of five inches for snowmobiling on lake surfaces, but the Department cautions that any snowmobiling done on state lakes is at the risk of the operator because of the varying thickness and strength of lake ice.

East Harbor State Park in Ottawa County has seven miles of snowmobile trails; Punderson State Park in Geauga County, 2½ miles; West Branch State Park in Portage County, 14 miles; and Maumee State Forest in Lucas County, four miles. The well-marked trails must have snow or ice on the ground, and the subsurface soil must be frozen before the trails can be used.

The winter recreation now enjoyed by snowmobiling enthusiasts was not the original purpose for the vehicle.

Cambodian Troops Fight For Town

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government forces launched a drive today to retake a district town and rice depot in northwest Cambodia, the Cambodian military command announced.

The government gave no details of the new military operation to recapture Mong Russei, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. But a delayed report said the insurgents who occupied the town early Monday burned more than 100 houses, the Phnom Penh military command said.

Earlier reports said the Khmer Rouge rebels captured 125,000 sacks of unhulled rice, the equivalent of 2,000 tons of milled grain.

The town had a population of 10,000, but casualties were not known.

The Phnom Penh airport and the adjoining market were hit by three rockets, but there were no casualties, the command said.

The South Vietnamese military command reported one of the heaviest shelling attacks in months in the An Loc region 60 miles north of Saigon. It said more than 500 mortar rounds and rocket grenades were fired at three government positions, but the only casualties were two militiamen wounded.

An Loc, the capital of Binh Long province, is the only major position still held by the government in the province.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, claimed that government air strikes destroyed 32 North Vietnamese trucks and damaged seven others in a 60-truck convoy in the central highlands near the Laotian border about 245 miles northeast of Saigon.

The first snowmobiles served as practical transportation through the northwoods snow country of the United States.

Early snowmobiles actually were motorized toboggans with power supplied by out-board motors or engines from motorcycles. However, the vehicles were propelled by a single, tank-like track much like modern snowmobiles.

Today's snowmobiles are constructed more like motorcycles with handlebars linked to two short skis in front for steering. A single endless track propels the machine.

Snowmobiles normally seat one or two persons and range in price from a few hundred to a few thousand dollars. Normal snowmobile accessories include sleds which are used to pull equipment or people behind snowmobiles, and trailers for transporting the vehicles from one area to another.

Hunters and ice fishermen were among the first sportsmen to make use of the snowmobile's utilitarian advantages. It's a lot easier to put your gear on a sled to be pulled by a snowmobile than lugging it yourself. The sled also can be used to bring back the day's hunting or fishing trophies.

Hunters and fishermen can use snowmobiles to quickly and easily get to otherwise inaccessible spots and to move rapidly from one spot to another.

Most snowmobilers who use Ohio's state parks are interested in family-oriented activities.

DNR employee Ralph Upp, an avid snowmobiler from Reynoldsburg in Franklin County, says he began the sport to get his family outdoors during the winter for some good relaxation and plain old fun.

"It feels great to be outdoors during the winter," says Upp. "I love the wind in my face as I enjoy the scenery from my snowmobile."

Cooking out while on a snowmobiling trip can be an invigorating experience for the family. Cooking on a charcoal grill in the winter is much the same as during the summer except you eliminate pesky problems like ants, mosquitoes and flies.

Many snowmobilers also are winter campers. Most camp in the warmth of a motor home or hardtop trailer equipped with propane furnaces, but some choose tents or tent-trailers, with or without heaters.

Grand Lake-St. Marys, Indian Lake and Punderson state parks are among 20 state parks that have camping areas with electricity and heated shower houses. East Harbor, Lake Lorain and West Branch state parks are among 24 other state parks that have year-round camping areas but not heated shower houses.

Punderson State Park also has a 32-room, Tudor-style lodge and 26 elec-

ALL ABOARD!—A snowmobile's normal complement of one or two persons can be expanded with the addition of a sled like this one behind a snowmobile at West Branch State Park in Portage County. Snowmobiling, which is growing in popularity in Ohio, can be enjoyed in itself or in conjunction with other winter activities. trically-heated cabins.

The Department of Natural Resources advises snowmobilers to be careful while practicing their sport. A snowmobiler's chances of being injured are much greater during the first year because of inexperience in operating the machine.

Some snowmobiling safety tips include:

- Make sure lake ice is at least five inches thick to support a snowmobile. Stream ice is 15 per cent weaker than lake ice.
- Never jump a snowbank. Dangerous obstacles or people may be on the other side.
- When snowmobiling in remote areas, travel in groups and notify someone of your destination.
- Carry emergency equipment, such as spare parts, a first aid kit, compass, tools, food, map, tow rope, flare gun and snowshoes.
- Don't tailgate or cut across the path of another snowmobile.

Lone Sextuplet Finally Goes Home

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The sole survivor of the Lange sextuplets is home after more than two months in the hospital where her brothers and sisters died.

And Jolene Rene's mother says, "We just hope nothing happens to her ... because we've lost so many sons and daughters."

Charlotte Lange gave birth to quadruplets and to sextuplets in little more than a year. Only Jolene is still alive.

Jolene was the first-born and strongest of the sextuplets delivered three months premature last Dec. 8. She weighed less than two pounds at birth, but she weighs five pounds now, still about 2½ pounds less than the average newborn baby.

"We've had a lot of discouraging moments, but she makes up for it," said Mrs. Lange as she took Jolene home from the hospital Monday. "We've really put all our hopes and dreams into her."

Mrs. Lange, 26, said she used fertility drugs for both pregnancies. The quadruplets she bore in November 1973 died shortly after birth.

She told newsmen she has not decided whether to try using a fertility drug again or to adopt a child.

"We're going to think about it," she said. "There is no fixed answer. We'll see what the next year brings."

During her first few weeks of life in the hospital, Jolene was kept in a respirator and fed intravenously through the umbilical vein. She also received photoelectric light treatments to prevent jaundice. After she became stronger, doctors moved her to the nursery.

The Langes' hospital bill is estimated at $45,000. Mrs. Lange said she and her husband, a $12,500-a-year armored car guard, had billed their insurance company.

"They haven't let us know how much they will pay," she said. "Whatever they don't pay we will because she's worth it."

"We have the rest of our lives to pay it off if necessary."

General Guild Presents Check For $8,000 To Berger Hospital

GENERAL GUILD GIFT—Mrs. James Hall, on the right, is shown presenting a check in the amount of $8,000 to Charles Rideout, Berger Hospital Administrator, as payment for a fetal monitor, the annual large gift from the General Guild with $1,000 of the money to be used for other smaller needed items. Also shown with the valuable addition to the Obstetrical Department are from the left, Mrs. Betty Jolliffe, director of nursing, Mrs. Dorothy Pritchard, LPN, and Dr. Emily E. Lutz.

As the fetal monitor was delivered to the Obstetrical Department of Berger Hospital recently, Dr. Emily Lutz, obstetrician and gynecologist, said the equipment was one of the recent outstanding improvements in maternal neonatal care. It mostly benefits the baby as it monitors the baby's heart rate and effect of uterine contraction, and is one method available today to evaluate the condition of a baby during labor.

Mrs. James (Judy) Hall, treasurer of General Guild, said the monitor represented community cooperation at its best. The $7,000 equipment was purchased with the proceeds from the 1974 High Fever Follies.

During the Follies all guild members work hard behind the scenes as well as in the spotlight, but the biggest part is played by the community as it joins in the project either by participating in the Follies itself, or buying advertising space in the program or through a variety of donations. Mrs. Hall derives great satisfaction along with all guild members, to relax for a brief period, and see the fruits of their labors in use.

Although the large gift highlights each year there are many pieces of equipment purchased by individual guilds supplying the hospital in making it a more complete facility for service in many areas.

The individual guilds have many money raising projects. Some have bake sales, card parties, etc. and all combine their efforts for the Christmas Bazaar and Lawn Festival. In 1974 through work of the guilds a total of $12,945 in cash and equipment was donated to the hospital.

Currently there are 29 active guilds with 360 members, presided over by Jo Liggett, president of General Guild. Guild 52 is the most recently organized. As guilds have been disbanded over the years the new numbers have been picked up.

Without a number by very effective in contributing to needs of the hospital is the Gift Shop Guild boasting of 100 members, some serving from other guilds. These ladies donate time to operate the shop in the lobby of the hospital. Everytime the shop is patronized the purchaser is helping to buy equipment. In 1974 the Gift Shop purchased an ECG (sometimes called EKG) monitor and two intensive care beds.

Currently the guilds have $22,000 in Certificates of Deposit which will be spent in equipping the new hospital.

ONE OF THE GANG—Mary Romero, 26, works in highway construction crew in Mesa, Ariz. She took the job because her position as a dental technician didn't pay enough to support herself and her two children.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

They'll Blow The Whistle

DEAR ABBY: My co-workers and I have worked in this variety store for nearly 35 years. It's a multi-million dollar chain operation which is well known from coast to coast.

For the last ten years, we have had a manager who we think has a screw loose. First of all, he breaks all the company rules. He should work from 8 to 5:30 p.m. but he leaves the store every day at noon and doesn't come back until next morning. We don't know where he goes, but he tells everyone that if there are any phone calls for him, we should say he "stepped out for a minute" and will call them back. We're supposed to get their names and numbers and he returns their calls the following day.

He is very abusive to those under him. We have gotten together and decided that ten years of taking his abuse and covering up for him is enough, and we want to blow the whistle on him by reporting his absenteeism to the executive office. But who should do this? No one wants to write the letter and sign his name to it. We've been battling this for years.

Some of us would even quit but we are so close to retirement and pensions we hate to do it. Answer, please?

WORKING STIFF

DEAR STIFF: If you're telling it like it is (and I believe you are), no one person should write the letter. ALL of you should write it and sign your names.

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from a meeting. It was open to the public. A Protestant minister offered a prayer, and in it he said, "I ask this in the name of our Lord, Jesus Christ."

Abby, I am all for prayer, but I am not of the Christian faith, and I was not the only person there who wasn't. Don't you think it's time that some clergymen realize that Christianity is not the only faith in the world? I know I am not alone in my feelings. I happen to live in a small town where there are many non-Christian people who are devout in their own religions.

I don't mean any disrespect to anyone, Abby, but this may open the eyes of some clergymen who go out of their churches and into the community and thoughtlessly assume that Christianity is the only religion in the world.

SMALL TOWN, MO.

DEAR SMALL TOWN: You make a good point.

DEAR ABBY: Two months ago, I got full custody of my four-year-old son. His mother gave him up because her social life was more important.

When I got custody, it was understood that all visitation rights would go to my ex-wife's parents, since she didn't care if she ever saw the boy again. NOW she says maybe she will see him next month, or in six months from now-she isn't "sure."

I called her yesterday to ask if my present wife could adopt the boy. She said she would never consent to that because she didn't want to give up her "motherhood." Now, if you can make any sense out of that, you're a lot smarter than I think you are, and I think you're pretty smart.

The boy has fully accepted my wife as his "mommy" and doesn't miss his former mother at all, mainly because he hardly ever saw her.

I've talked to a lawyer about this and he said he didn't think my wife could adopt the boy without my ex's consent but he didn't know much about it because he had never handled a case like that before.

Can you help us?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I am not qualified to give legal advice, and from what you tell me, neither is your lawyer. Get another lawyer and let him advise you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOT AND BOTHERED IN MILLERSBURG": Did that letter really come from the Millersburg Ohio Fire Department? Or is somebody trying to make an ash out of you?

Terry R. Anderson, 972 Circle Drive, field representative of the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Company here, qualified for the Company's Merit Club, it was announced by James B. McIntosh, President of the Columbus, Ohio based firm.

McIntosh said Merit Club qualifiers rank among the top quarter of the Company's field force.

Anderson is associated with the Tice Agency with offices located at 250 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio.

State Distributes Local Fund Money

Pickaway County will receive $12,500 and Circleville $244.26 in the February distribution of $4,791,104.98 in Local Government Fund money, according to State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

Under the fund formula, the counties receive eleven-twelfths of the amount while the municipalities divide the remaining one-twelfth.

Local Government Fund money is derived monthly by taking 3.5 per cent of the previous month's collections of the state income tax, state sales tax and state corporation tax.

British Leader Backs Little Man

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Thatcher, the grocer's daughter who became leader of Britain's Conservative party, has spoken up for the nation's small businessmen.

Recalling her father's small grocery, Mrs. Thatcher said: "I knew full well the tremendous number of hours which went into earning our keep."

"I hope you will see that I come not as a politician who only knows about politics, but as a person who really does know from experience, the massive problems you have everyday in your business," she said Monday at a rally organized by the National Board of Trade.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cloudy skies and mild temperatures dominated the Ohio weather scene this morning. Some light drizzle was falling from the clouds in different spots. Temperatures were in the 30s and low 40s.

Over southern Ohio the clouds were not very thick and the sun was to burn through giving some partial sunshine today over those areas, according to the National Weather Service forecast.

A weak low pressure area over the western Great Lakes was to be moving southeastward and there was a chance of some light rain moving into northwestern Ohio late today . . . and then overspreading the entire state tonight.

Colder air moving in behind the low pressure area may change the light rain to flurries over northwestern portions by morning.

Temperatures were forecast to range from the upper 40s over northern Ohio to the upper 50s in southern Ohio this afternoon. They are to fall back to the mid 30s to mid 40s by morning.

There will be a chance of flurries over northern and central Ohio on Wednesday while southern sections could start to see some partial clearing setting in as high pressure moves eastward from the west.

Temperatures will be cooler than today's with highs in the upper 30s and 40s.

Flea Market Set By Kiwanis Club To Benefit YMCA

Paid FBI Informants Abroad?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paid informants of the FBI were traveling abroad to spy on revolutionary groups here and overseas, while CIA agents were infiltrating domestic antiwar groups as part of a plan to penetrate the Soviet intelligence system, according to two accounts.

The reported activities showed the overlapping operations of the two intelligence agencies. The CIA is limited by law to foreign intelligence operations while the FBI handles internal security functions.

Meanwhile, two former CIA counterintelligence officers and a former security director of the agency were to testify today before the Rockefeller commission's investigation of CIA domestic spying operations.

The officials, all of whom retired at the end of 1974, are Howard J. Osborn, director of security, N. Scott Miler, chief of operations in the counterintelligence staff, and Raymond G. Rocca, deputy chief of the counterintelligence unit.

Ray S. Cline, deputy director for intelligence in the CIA until 1966, said the attempt to gain entrance to the Soviet intelligence system through antiwar activists here was unsuccessful.

"Some guy got the bright idea that if you hired a young man or woman who was a really reliable person and able to take on the protective coloration of the antiwar movement and sent him overseas the Soviets might try to recruit him," Cline said.

However, he said he didn't think the program lasted long enough to be successful.

The agents who infiltrated the peace movement did make reports to the FBI, Cline said.

"The reports were made because of heavy pressure from the White House to get something on the (antiwar) movement. I think they were a mistake," Cline said. He said the CIA never established any evidence the Soviets were trying to manipulate the Vietnam war protest movement.

Meanwhile, FBI spokesman James Murphy said the FBI paid travel expenses and fees to informants who traveled overseas to keep watch on organizations which have activities outside of U.S. borders.

"If an individual is reporting to us on an organization whose activities extend to another country, frequently that individual does travel to that other country" to gather intelligence, Murphy said.

He emphasized that the informants are not FBI agents or employees of the FBI and that the overseas travel was done voluntarily.

His comments came after the New York Times reported Sunday that Joseph A. Burton of Tampa, Fla., said that he posed as a Marxist for more than two years beginning in May 1972, to infiltrate revolutionary groups here and abroad.

Murphy confirmed that "Burton was a paid informant for the FBI for approximately two years in the early 1970s. He voluntarily contacted the FBI."

Conserve gas like your job depended on it.

Because it might. American industry is the largest single user of energy . . . so the current shortage of natural gas poses a serious threat to jobs. The amount of gas available to business and industry depends in part on how much gas the residential customers consume . . . and how much they conserve.

The most important thing you can do now to save gas is set your thermostat at 68 degrees or lower during the heating season.

Other things you can do like insulating, weather-stripping, caulking, and cutting down your use of hot water will also conserve. The more gas you save, the more will be available for industry, the more available for jobs . . . maybe yours. Saving gas can help save jobs.

OIL PRODUCTION PLATFORM—"Beryl Platform A," a giant oil production platform which will weigh 200,000 tons and stand more than 50 stories high, is nearing completion at Stavanger, Norway. It will be towed later this year to Beryl Field off Shetland Islands in British sector of the North Sea. Platform will be topped by a two-acre deck and its owners say it will be able to handle production from more than 40 wells. It is owned by Mobile Oil Corp., Amerada-Hess Corp., Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and British Gas Corp.

Cattle Producers Show Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cattle producer who bought a 600-pound steer last August and fed it traditional grain-based rations would lose heavily at today's market prices, according to Agriculture Department economists.

The loss would amount to about $130 per head at current prices for choice-grade steers in Midwest markets, assuming that production costs were keyed to prices over the past six months, figures by USDA's Economic Research Service show.

But if a 600-pound feeder steer was purchased in December and fed until sold at a market weight of 1,050 pounds next June, there is some chance of profit, according to a new study by the agency.

A feeder steer would have cost about $220 last August. If the animal was placed in a feedlot and fed the traditional corn-based ration for the full six months, it would have run up a total cost to its owner of about $505 by now, according to the analysis.

Thus, the full-grown steer, ready for slaughter, would have to bring $48.09 per 100 pounds of liveweight for the owner to break even. As it is, early February prices for choice steers on the Omaha market were $35 per hundredweight or less, meaning a loss of more than $13 per 100 pounds under the USDA formula.

The figures are only estimates based on average costs and market prices and are interpreted on an assumption that all items are paid for during the periods indicated. In actual practice, producers differ greatly on purchases and feeding techniques.

Also, the figures are based on the classic methods of feeding cattle fully to market weights and do not take into consideration recent modifications which include a reduced grain ration, shorter feeding periods, earlier marketings at lighter weights and other variations producers use to help trim costs.

If a 600-pound steer was purchased in December it would have cost about $169 initially, a $51 decline from last August. Corn prices dropped also, meaning that the December steer — to be sold this coming June — is estimated to cost about $452 to produce for the slaughter market, a decline of about $53 from the August-February example.

That means a producer would need to get a little more than $43 per 100 pounds in June to break even on his steer. Department livestock

PRJVS Plans Electrical Contest

The first annual Pickaway-Ross County Vocational School Electrical Skill Contest will be held 7 p.m. Monday in the electrical lab of the Vocational Center.

Fourteen students will be participating in the contest which is the first step toward the state vocational Skill contest. The contest requires the student to install some specified electrical circuitry in a simulated dwelling house wall section.

Judging will be done by the Central Ohio Homebuilders Association and will be based upon the student's workmanship, accuracy, speed, and adherence to code. First place and alternate awards will be sponsored by Chillicothe Electric Supply, Inc.

Tourism Remains Good In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The cold economic climate isn't stopping Northerners and foreigners from flocking to balmy Florida in droves this winter, tourist officials say.

"We feared the economic situation and the unemployment might bring a slump," said Dean Gaiser of the Florida Department of Tourism. "But southeast Florida, the central part of the state, Daytona Beach and Tampa-St. Pete all are holding up well."

Hal Cohen, executive director of Miami Beach's Tourist Development Authority, said, "The town's close to 100 per cent full. It looks like we'll remain pretty much full through Easter."

"Everybody's talking about a depression, but there's no depression here," Joe Hart, a Miami Beach motel operator, said Monday. "This place looks like St. Tropez."

Officials say the invasion of tourists has a decidedly international flavor.

One hotel spokesman in Miami said many of his guests come from Brazil and Argentina.

Another Miami innkeeper said many of his customers are coming from the north — "Never in my life have I seen so many Canadians in town."

Orlando officials report that the average number of rooms rented nightly in January not only surpassed the 1974 figure — when the energy shortage cut deeply into tourism — but was also better than the January 1973 average.

Gaiser said the state's welcome stations for motorists registered 129,021 visitors in January, 36 per cent more than last year and "just about on the nose" with the record 1973 traffic.

One of the reasons for the increased number of motorists, however, is the apparent reluctance of tourists to accept air fares 15 per cent higher than a year ago.

National Air Lines has cut its flights from 382 to 370 daily, and laid off 60 employees. Eastern reported 5,000 fewer passengers at Miami and Fort Lauderdale last month than in January 1974.

YOU LOCALLY OWNED SAVINGS & LOAN

TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS:

Last week the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, all Ohio utilities, and interested consumer groups worked out an agreement to help those customers who are experiencing difficulty paying their gas and electric bills.

One provision of the agreement was instituted in an effort to prevent disconnections to hardship cases. Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company's Credit Department, as it has done in the past, will endeavor to work out payment plans with hardship cases such as the elderly, low income customers and those on fixed incomes.

Columbus and Southern urges these hardship cases to contact the Company and indicate possible alternative arrangements.

On Friday, January 31 our Company announced that it will also participate in the agreement by making a budget payment plan available to all residential customers.

The budget payment plan is based on a customer's annual consumption spread equally over a twelve month period. The annual consumption figure is determined by previous usage history and will be altered periodically when automatic reviews will either increase or decrease the monthly budget amount.

Details of the plan and your monthly budget amount will be included with an application in your March bill. The plan will become effective April 1.

To enroll in the budget payment plan you simply return the application to the Company.

These provisions are our way of letting you know that we care about providing not only reliable, but continuous electric service.

Tigers Named Top Team In State By AP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Middletown's all-conquering Middles won an unprecedented fifth Associated Press Ohio big school basketball poll championship today.

Middletown (16-0) and Columbus East each had ruled the state four times apiece in the 24-year-old ratings, compiled by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

In Class AA, undefeated Circleville claimed its first state regular season title and Mansfield St. Peter's grabbed its second successive Class A crown.

The ratings are based on regular season play only.

Middletown's previous poll crowns came in 1954, 1956, 1958 and 1963, all under Coach Paul Walker. The school also has won a record seven state tournament championships, five of them under the 63-year-old Walker.

The Middles are one of the few schools in the state with regular season games left. Middletown has remaining dates with Springfield South and Hamilton Taft.

Otherwise, nearly all of Ohio's teams plunge into postseason tournament play this week, leading toward the state tournament March 20-22 at Ohio State University.

Middletown led runnerup Canton McKinley, 17-1 and the defending Class AAA poll king, by a whopping 282-232 points. Kettering Alter (17-0) took third place with 206 points.

Circleville whipped through its regular season with 18 victories and piled up 254 points, 53 in front of defending Class AA ratings champion Wellsville (16-1). Waverly (17-1) was No. 3 with 177 points.

St. Peter's, although beaten twice in 20 games, was a runaway victor in Class A. The Spartans, whose losses were to Class AAA Mansfield Madison and Class AA Canton Lehman, earned 244 points to 191 for No. 2 Canal Winchester (17-1) and 162 for third-place Lordstown (19-1).

In Class AAA, Toledo Scott moved up one spot to fourth place, followed by Dayton Roosevelt, Alliance, Barberton, Zanesville, Newark and Elyria, the lone newcomer to the Top Ten.

In Class AA, Delphos St. John's, beaten 74-72 by Lima Catholic dropped two spots to fourth. Rossford Warsaw River View, Springfield Shawnee, Columbus Mohawk, Wheelersburg and Brooklyn all remained in the positions as last week, rounding out the Top Ten.

In Class A, Sebring moved up one rung to fourth, Pettisville two spots to fifth while Norwalk St. Paul kept the No. 6 rating. Windham was seventh, Anna Eighth, Minster ninth and McGuffey Upper Scioto Valley No. 10.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams in the final poll this season for The Associated Press (10 points for first to one point for 10th):

O.J. Simpson Leading Superstars

ROTONDA, Fla. (AP) — O.J. Simpson entered the final five events in the $122,000 superstars finals today with a 7½-point advantage over defending champion Kyle Rote Jr. in a chase for $25,000 first place money.

Simpson, running star of the National Football League's Buffalo Bills, grabbed the lead Monday night by scoring 185 to win the bowling competition. His finish was coupled with seconds in tennis, rowing and weight lifting for 29½ points.

Rote, a soccer player for the Dallas Tornado, has 22 points. He won tennis by beating Simpson 6-4 in the finals and took the 100-meter swim with a time of 1:08.03.

In third place with 17 points was pole vaulter Bob Seagren, winner of the first superstars in 1973. Seagren won the 100-yard rowing event with a time of 59.4 seconds.

Other point totals were football's Franco Harris, 14, and Phil Villapiano, 13½; tennis' Marty Riessen, 7; skier Hugo Nindl, 5; baseball's Lou Brock, 4; pole vaulter Steve Smith, 3; football's Lawrence McCutcheon, 2; baseball's Mike Hargrove and football's Jack Ham and speed skater Ard Schenk, 1.

John Havlicek of the National Basketball Association's Boston Celtics failed to get a point.

Viking Frosh Seek Title Tie

The Teays Valley freshman basketball team, sporting a 10-3 Metro League record and an 11-3 overall mark, goes after a share of the league title 5:15 p.m. today hosting Marysville.

The Vikings are participating in the Bexley Freshman tournament where they defeated Hamilton Twp. 47-28 last Saturday at 4:30 p.m. Thursday they play Bexley in the semi-finals of the tourney.

In Saturday's game, Rick Queen scored 14 points, Dwayne Hettinger nine, Duane Keller seven, Ronnie Little six, Mike Fisher four, Mark Blue three, Dave Anderson and John Pabst two each.

Tiger Freshmen Play Wednesday In SCOL Tourney

The Circleville Freshman basketball team will play 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the South Central Ohio League basketball tournament at Miami Trace High School.

Last week, the Herald reported that the Tigers of Coach Jim Diltz would be in action Thursday.

Circleville, once beaten on the year, will play Hillsboro in the semi-final match. The Indian freshmen beat Washington C. H. 53-48 in the first game of the tourney.

Winner of the Circleville-Hillsboro game will play the winner of the Miami Trace-Wilmington semi-final match in the finals of the SCOL tournament.

That game will be played Saturday at 1 p.m. at Miami Trace.

Hoosiers Wrap Up Big Ten Basketball Title Tie

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

When Indiana's Hoosiers beat you, they make sure you don't get up. And Wisconsin's basketball team has the marks to prove it.

The top-ranked Hoosiers continued their reign of terror in the Big Ten Conference with a 93-58 rout of the Badgers Monday night that clinched a tie for the league title.

"Indiana has great flow defensively," said Wisconsin Coach John Powless. "They double back well and cut off penetration. We were forced to take a fall-away jumper or take the ball back outside."

Indiana's brutes forced Wisconsin into 29 turnovers and Scott May carried the offensive load for the winners, scoring 23 points.

The victory was the 28th straight for the Hoosiers. They can clinch the Big Ten championship outright by beating runnerup Purdue this Saturday.

Elsewhere in college basketball, fifth-ranked Alabama defeated LSU 80-76; No. 7 Kentucky smashed Mississippi 108-89; ninth-ranked Marquette stopped Butler 77-55; No. 11 Notre Dame hammered St. Joseph's (Ind.) 97-81; 13th-rated North Carolina trimmed Virginia Tech 87-75 and No. 14 Creighton routed St. Thomas (Minn.) 90-54.

Indiana, which had trouble with Wisconsin in the past at home, had no difficulty Monday night. The hotshot Hoosiers broke open the game with an 18-2 spurt midway through the first half.

May scored 18 of his points in the first half, when Indiana led 48-28. Kent Benson added 16 points and 10 rebounds for Indiana while Quinn Buckner scored 12. Bruce McCauley and Tim Paterick had 10 points apiece for the losers.

Alabama's Leon Douglas scored 25 points and Charles Cleveland 20 to provide a Southeastern Conference victory over LSU. Alabama led the entire contest, but LSU made a couple of strong efforts to gain the lead.

The Tigers fought back from a 45-32 halftime deficit to make the score 70-69 on a Glenn Hansen free throw. Alabama took control again and boosted its advantage to 76-69. Then, with 30 seconds left in the game, the fireworks began.

LSU's Gary Huffman started it off with two free throws, and Kenny Higgs added to the comeback with a three-point play to make the score 76-74. Then Cleveland sank a basket to make the score 78-74, and Higgs sank another to shrink 'Bama's margin to two points with 10 seconds left. Alabama turned possession into a four-point victory as Cleveland came through on two free throws with one second left.

Hansen led all scorers with 29 points.

Freshman Jack Givens scored 26 points and took down 16 rebounds to lead Kentucky past Mississippi. The victory kept the Wildcats a game behind front-running Alabama in the Southeastern Conference race. The teams meet Saturday in one of the

Westfall Grabs 4th In SVC

Four points kept the Westfall Mustangs out of third place in the Scioto Valley Conference final standings.

But even so, the Mustangs, with only one senior player, finished in fourth place with a 5-7 record. Westfall beat Zane Trace 59-55 in the second game of the season to win their first SVC game after 15 straight defeats.

And their 7-11 season mark was two more wins than they had accumulated in the past three seasons.

Southeastern, in its first year of SVC play, copped the league title with a 12-0 record. Adena finished second at 9-3.

Both teams beat Westfall twice on the year.

But the third place finishers, Huntington and Paint Valley, ended with 6-6 marks.

The Mustangs lost first games between these teams, but came back for wins in the second meetings.

Huntington and Paint Valley both won their last league games of the year Friday by two-point margins to capture third place while Westfall dropped a 76-65 loss to Southeastern.

The season is not over for the Mustangs, however, as Coach Mike Eckle's crew will face Licking Heights in the first Class A Groveport sectional tournament game Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Winner of the contest will go against the winner of the Fairbanks - Wehrle game Friday, Feb. 28, at 9 p.m. to determine which team will represent the sectional lower bracket in the Central District tournament.

OSU Trips Northwestern

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Out of Ohio State's discipline problems have come new strengths for the Big Ten basketball team, says Coach Fred Taylor.

"The big thing is the way we're playing together now," Taylor said following the Buckeyes' 84-66 victory over visiting Northwestern Monday night.

Tex Winter, the Wildcats' veteran mentor, seconded the notion.

"The trouble seemed to help them. They're playing their hearts out," Winter said moments after Ohio State handled the Wildcats for the second time this season.

Winter was referring to the suspensions of Ohio State regulars Mark Bayless and Steve Wenner and topflight reserves Andy Stiegemeier and Terry Burris three games ago for disciplinary reasons.

All were reinstated Sunday. Burris, Bayless and Stiegemeier saw brief action in the last two minutes. Wenner did not play.

Taylor said he would go with the same makeshift lineup that has produced three straight victories, 14-10 overall and 8-6 conference records for the Buckeyes.

However, Craig Taylor, Ohio State's injury-plagued center who scored 19 points, may be doubtful at Illinois Saturday. The big junior hurt his other knee against the Wildcats.

"He should be ready after three days' rest," trainer Mike Bordner told the Ohio State coach.

Ohio State rolled into a 44-25 halftime lead, taking advantage of Northwestern's foul difficulties. The Wildcats committed 30 personals to 17 for the Buckeyes, drawing Winter's ire.

"I certainly would have to question whether we're that much rougher," he said.

Winter said Northwestern's attack was slowed because of scoring leader Billy McKinney's sprained wrist. McKinney suffered the injury at Indiana Saturday and managed just eight points, more than 10 below his average.

Willie Williams' 18 points led Northwestern, sinking to a 3-10 record in the Big Ten and 5-16 overall. James Wallace added 15. Both fouled out.

Jud Wood, Bayless' replacement at guard, hit a career high 15 points to go with 18 each by Larry Bolden and Bill Andreas. Dan Weston, spelling Wenner at forward, added 10.

Only three other games were on tap for Ohio teams Monday night, all Mid-American Conference teams playing nonleague contests.

Toledo edge South Carolina 78-72, Bowling Green beat Chicago Loyola 91-68 and Ohio University dined Fairfield 80-61.

At Toledo, Mike Larsen hit a season-high 27 points to bring Toledo from behind for the victory.

South Carolina moved ahead with nine minutes left to play and held the lead until the 2:47 mark. Larsen and Jim Brown then led the Rockets to the come-from-behind victory.

Bowling Green took and early lead and moved steadily ahead to beat Loyola. At one time, the Falcons held a 32-point edge.

Senior guard Jeff Montgomery hit 21 points to pace Bowling Green.

In Athens, junior guard Walter Luckett hit 31 points to pace the Bobcats to their victory over Fairfield.

It was sweet revenge for Luckett, who performed poorly during Ohio's loss last year to Fairfield. It was doubly significant since Luckett hails from Bridgeport, Conn., near the Fairfield, Conn. home of the visitors.

Indiana Retains
Grip On Poll Lead

By The Associated Press
Indiana maintained its stranglehold on first, Kentucky took a bit of a tumble, Centenary joined the select circle and Oregon nosedived out of it, according to The Associated Press College Basketball Poll released today.</

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Unexpected complications may call for sudden change in a business program but, in making it, rely on your own judgment — not that of others.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): If a "good" idea backfired, don't be discouraged. Look into the possible reasons — and make a new start. No good idea or effort is ever a total loss.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A splendid day for clearing away recent differences which, if allowed to crystallize, could become real problems. A bit of frank talk could do the trick.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): New opportunities indicated in many fields — but especially where monetary interests are concerned. A splendid time for consolidating your position in this respect.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Your best stock in trade — salesmanship — gets a boost from friendly solar influences. Now's the time to display your wares — and yourself — with as much showmanship as you can muster.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): As with Gemini, this is a day for frankness. Hashing things over with superiors and (or) associates could prove exceptionally profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Devoid of planetary encouragement now, you may tend to feel lost. But don't. Instead, accelerate, reactive your interests, and you will land on safe shores.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some opposition, but also plenty of smooth sailing if you are ready to pitch in and set your sights straight toward worthwhile goals. Appraise values warily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Restrain yourself, no matter how strong the urge to take direct action becomes. This is a day for planning — not for involvement in complex situations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Collaborate on a program with associates who have allied interests and principles. Some excellent ideas could result from a "meeting of minds."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stellar influences mild, yet you can have a successful day. Taboo wild schemes, daring ventures. There's a tendency toward recklessness now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Some persons may react in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or ruin your innately serene disposition.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with many talents, through which you can achieve a highly successful life. You are versatile, imaginative, discriminating and, though innately modest, you develop a keen sense of the value of your faculties and become more outgoing, prouder of your achievements as you grow older. Excellent at research, you could succeed as a scientist, educator or journalist; could also excel at almost any of the arts. Wang And Lewis Sign With Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Two draft choices—one on offense and one defense—have been added to the ranks of players signed for 1975, the Cleveland Browns announced Monday.

The National Football League team said offensive tackle Merle Wang and defensive end Stan Lewis had inked contracts for the coming season.

Westfall Board Renews Principal's Contract

During the regular monthly meeting of the Westfall Board of Education, high school principal Robert Debo was re-employed and given a three-year contract.

The board also accepted the resignation of Edwin Towler, custodian at the high school. William Trapp is presently serving in this position. Norval Shepard was approved for work as a substitute custodian and substitute teacher list No. 10 as recommended by the county superintendent was approved.

A representative from the Contract Management Company and the architect for the new middle school were present at the board meeting to give the board tabulations of bids on bid package No. 3. The board agreed to study these bids and alternates and will make a decision during the continued meeting on Feb. 24.

In other business, the board granted one day of personal leave to several teachers and one day professional leave to one teacher. A leave of absence for the 1975-76 school year was granted to another teacher.

Approval was given for home tutoring for one student but a request for early graduation for three students was denied. One other student was given permission to graduate with the class of 1976 providing all the requirements are met for graduation.

A report was made to the board on the natural gas usage in the district. The amounts used were within the allotment for the month of January. Local superintendent Gordon Massie advised the board that the real cut-backs are for the months of February and March. The board is optimistic, however, for meeting these allotments for these two months.

The Contract Management Company brought a sample replacement for the acoustic units in the gymnasium at the high school building. No decision was made for proceeding with the project.

A final settlement for the sale of the Atlanta School Building has been made and the title was signed over to John and James DeMint on Jan. 31.

The board approved payment of $50 each for two students to a commercial school for driver training. These students are presently enrolled at the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School and are unable to take the driver education classes at either the vocational school or Westfall High School. The board is reimbursed by the State Department for this expenditure.

Under routine business, the board authorized the clerk, Kenneth Reid, to request an advance draw on local taxes. The meeting was continued until next Monday at 8 p.m.

Farmers Union To Hold Meeting Here

Area farmers are invited to attend the first meeting of the Pickaway County Farmers Union 8 p.m., Monday at the L-K Motel, Route 23, South of Circleville.

An interesting program has been planned, according to Willard D. England, local member and coordinator for the evening program.

England stated that farmers are concerned about the future of family agriculture. All out farm production in 1975 could be disastrous to our farmers unless adequate legislation is adopted on the National level to protect our farmers from the effect of lower prices caused by over production. Farmers cannot stand to have farm commodity prices drop to less than the cost of production. We need to work together to insure that farmers receive their cost of production plus a reasonable profit, stated England.

Jack Rose, state president, and Charlie Nash, state executive director for the Ohio Farmers Union, will be in attendance to discuss the goals and future plans for the organization.

Ron Hixon, Blue Cross of Central Ohio, will be present to explain the group coverage offered through Farmers Union in Pickaway County.

Fire Causes $100 Damage

Fire caused $100 damage to a mobile home, owned by Kenneth Hampton, 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Darby Trailer Court.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy F. Randall McCoy, Hampton was trying to light his gun-fueled fuel oil furnace, which had failed to operate due to overheat.

Not realizing the gun was still pumping fuel oil into the furnace, Hampton tried to light the furnace which caused an explosion.

A portion of the wall ignited into flames. Harrisburg Twp. Fire Authorities arrived on the scene, tore the wall out and extinguished flames burning the electrical wires.

Governors Unhappy With Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many governors gathering here to discuss the nation's economic crisis say their states can't afford President Ford's budget cuts and generally disapprove of his energy program.

In a survey of governors arriving for the midwinter meeting of the National Governors Conference, a big majority said their states could not pay for programs where federal support was being trimmed or held constant in the face of rising costs.

The governors meet in various committees today and with congressional and administration leaders Wednesday and Thursday.

With about half the 50 governors responding to an Associated Press survey, most said they could not support Ford's energy program. Virtually every Democrat opposed the Ford energy plans while Republicans were divided.

Many of the responding governors, representing a regional and political cross-section of the state chief executives, said they were being forced to raise taxes in the face of federal aid reductions and that programs in the fields of health care, education and welfare would have to be cut back or dropped.

The Ford administration has proposed a 20 per cent cut in the federal share of a number of programs such as neighborhood health centers, maternal and child health centers, drug abuse centers, rat control and lead-based paint poisoning programs. Also proposed are reductions in federal matching funds for some welfare and social services by as much as 65 to 75 per cent.

"It would be impossible for the state of Maryland to assume the financial obligation of added costs for health and education programs proposed in President Ford's rob-the-poor budget," Maryland's Democratic Gov. Marvin Mandel said.

Gov. Wendell R. Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the Democratic Governors Conference, said the Ford budget would mean "local tax increases or reductions in essential services."

"The President's budget proposal robs essential domestic programs to pay $10 billion more for defense and $300 million more for space, and he wants another $300 million for South Vietnam," Anderson said. "Three more combat divisions and the space shuttle and South Vietnam can wait while we take care of Americans who are out of work and out of money and running out of hope."

Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, a Republican who survived a close election last fall, said his state "has been hit hardest by the combined impact of the energy crisis and the recession and would be hard-put now to assume added costs for anything."

Missouri's Christopher S. Bond, chairman of the Republican governors, said his state's elderly could not afford some of Ford's proposals.

The closest thing to firm support for Ford came from Democrat David Boren of Oklahoma, who approved the President's efforts to hold down federal spending but conceded, "Oklahoma is in much better financial condition than most states."
